ASK DR. MARKMANN

HOW MUCH TIME DO YOU DEVOTE TO INITIAL CONSULTATIONS?

I dedicate about one to two hours per consult. I use this time to establish a close, comfortable rapport so patients feel free to discuss what features they would like enhanced. I like to make sure I clearly understand a patient's concerns and goals prior to surgery, setting aside ample time to make sure my patients feel at ease and taken care of.

HOW INTEGRAL IS YOUR STAFF IN MAKING SURE PATIENTS' NEEDS ARE MET?

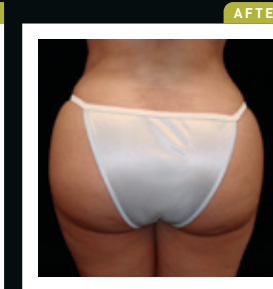

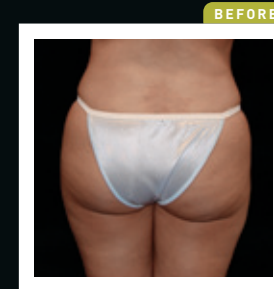

My staff is very instrumental in facilitating a pleasant experience. If it requires coordinating concierge services to transport patients before and after surgery or introducing new patients to patients whom I have previously treated, my staff does whatever it takes to make certain patients are content and satisfied with the level of care provided.

HOW DO YOU INCREASE PATIENT COMFORT FOLLOWING SURGERY?

Pain pumps can make a difference in pain relief post-surgically, especially during breast augmentation and tummy tuck procedures.

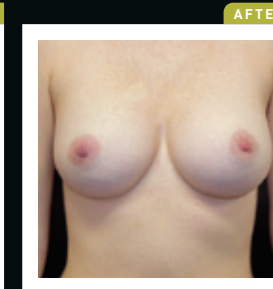

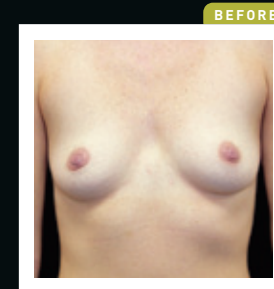

Perfectionist

It's not a great surprise that Dr. Markmann ended up in the medical field considering the fact that six of the seven children in his family have followed a medical career path. The artistic nature of plastic surgery is what drove him to his chosen specialty. "Plastic surgery is creative and requires artistic talents in addition to scientific knowledge and familiarity with the anatomy of the body," says Dr. Markmann. "Plastic surgery entails making people look better on the outside, which can in turn make them feel better on the inside. Facilitating such a positive boost in one's appearance and self-esteem is the most rewarding part of what I do." Dr. Markmann, who is ever intent on ensuring his patients receive star-quality treatment, pays close attention to each aspect of care provided.

CUSTOM CURVES

Desiring a more youthful, feminine figure, this 45-year-old patient consulted with Dr. Markmann. "We decided that a mini-tummy tuck and liposuction of the abdomen, waist and flanks would help cinch in her midsection while fat transfer to the buttocks would add volume where she wanted it," Dr. Markmann says.

COMPLETE REJUVENATION

A picture can speak a thousand words for Dr. Markmann, who asks breast augmentation patients, like the one shown, to show him a picture of their ideal, desired outcome, and then works with the patient to determine the appropriate breast size and shape. "It helps me more accurately assess their goals and leads to greater patient satisfaction."

ABOUT DR. MARKMANN

HOW WOULD YOU DESCRIBE YOUR OPERATING ROOM STYLE?

It's efficient but never rushed.

WHY DID YOU BECOME A PLASTIC SURGEON?

I love the creative and artistic aspects of plastic surgery.

WHAT IS YOUR FAVORITE PART OF YOUR JOB?

I love seeing how happy my patients are when they look in the mirror for the first time.

WHAT IS THE BEST ADVICE YOU'VE RECEIVED?

One of my professors once said, "Treat all of your patients like they are a part of your family."

HOW DO YOU START EACH DAY?

I begin by thinking about the surgery I will be doing that day, and I end each day putting my kids to bed and discussing how their days were.
